MILITARY FROWNS UPON HALLOWE'EN FUN "AS USUAL"

Cooperating with military authorities throughout the coastal combat zones under the Western Defense Command, Fourth Army, Upland police are charged with enforcing army orders that there shall be none of the "as usual" Hallowe'en depredations tomorrow evening.

Chief of Police Eugene L. Mueller points out that local police have no desire to be "old meanies," as children and young people sometimes are quick to believe. Rather he calls for their patriotic cooperation and assistance in maintaining order tomorow night and in abiding by the necessary military restrictions imposed by the army.

ARMY STRICT

According to the reported army ban on outdoor Hallowe'en revelry, the wearing of masks or costumes outdoors and on the streets is specifically and particularly banned, together with any attempts to mutilate property or throw any missels. A special caution is issued to residents not to admit masked and costumed persons to their homes, as this is a common ruse employed by criminals to gain entrance to parties and then stage a holdup at gun point.

SANE FUN O. K.

A simple, sane Hallowe'en is advise for young people by Chief Mueller, with home and neighborhood parties. Nor will police interfere with the usual ordinary "trick and treat" fun early in the evening, he said.

However, he declared, the lid is down on any violent form of Hallowe'en activity, and any masked or costumed persons found in the vicinity of public buildings, schools or utilities will be taken into custody immediately.

INVOKE CURFEW

All members of the regular police force, together with Auxiliary police will be on duty from early in the evening on, Chief Mueller said. They will be instructed, he said, to act in accordance with Upland Ordinance No. 92, Section 1, which prohibits any minor child, under the age of 16, to appear on streets, school grounds or public parks between the hours of 8 p.m. and daylight the following morning, unless accompanied by a parent or guardian.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Williams, 354 South Euclid avenue, are enjoying a visit from their daughter, Miss Pauline Williams, who is attending the school of nursing in the Huntington Memorial hospital in Pasadena.

Girls! Attend USO Dance For Camps Tonight

If there is one thing that a soldier likes better than dancing, it is a partner to dance with him, so the Ontario-Upland USO asks that as many girls as possible turn out for the Friday night dances.

The opening Friday dance last week found some 80 girls present to dance with about 360 service men. Result was that girls were worth a million on their feet while soldiers were a dime-a-dozen in the stag line at a four-to-one rate of exchange.

Seeking to overcome this disproportionate ratio as much as possible, Mrs. Herschel Griffin and Mrs. Theodore Combs, joint chairmen of the West End USO appeal for junior hostesses. Girls may secure application blanks at Atwood's to bring to the dances for certification.

Anyhow, there's another grand service dance at the USO tonight, and it is hoped to cut down the stag line so that rationing dance partners will not be so difficult.

Give Money for USO To Help Soldiers Here Without Funds

Hey, Folks—USO has an heroic job on their hands getting grub enough to feed soldiers.

Here's the reason. Pay checks have not caught up with hundreds of soldiers in this and other areas. These fellows get an evening off, and love it, but without funds the only place they can grab off a feed is at the USO.

Least the guys around town can do is to come through with a bit of folding money to help buy grub for these hungry boys.

Strip off a few wrappers from your roll and slip it to Mrs. John Craig—that's Nell—or any other USO worker—and do it sooner.

Thanks for the ride.

EUCLID SUBJECT OF NEW PAINTING

Euclid avenue is the subject of a new painting.

Andrin Aldrin, one of California's most famous artists, who has been in this area as the result of the Chaffey Community Art association display, used Euclid avenue and its beautiful green pepper trees as the subject for a picture. This new painting will be on display along with the other artists' exhibits in the women's gymnasium on the Chaffey campus Sunday.

Late Sunday afternoon announcement will be made of the winning exhibits in the large display of outstanding oil and water coloring paintings. Members of the Chaffey association will vote on their choice pictures from among six oil paintings and three water colors. These nine pictures were selected by Donald Bear, curator of the Santa Barbara museum. Two of these pictures will be purchased and added to the association's permanent exhibit. Pictures selected for final competition follow:

Water colors listed are "Old Wooden Bridge," Millard Sheets; "Ballet," Arthur Ames, and "Evening in Mexico," Milford Zornes.

VIEWS OF NATION THRILL AUDIENCE

Uplanders have become accustomed to expect magnificent pictures from Francis Line, but "This Is Your America", his latest inspiring pictorial production, amazed a near capacity audience in the Elementary school auditorium last night.

His vivid photographic report of what is beautiful in America and of some of the remarkable defense efforts was presented under the auspices of the Upland Parent-Teacher association. In subject matter and in photographic excellence, "This Is Your America" was appraised as being the finest of his several picture-lecture programs.

As the projector flashed the wide variety of color pictures on the screen, Mr. Line, in his characteristically entertaining style, identified the places depicted and gave added information. In general, "This Is Your America" depicted a cross-section of war-geared life in America. It also showed some of the most beautiful scenes Mr. Line has viewed on his many trips to all parts of the nation.

Following the program, Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Wenger for an informal social hour and refreshments with a group of friends.

BUILDING BAN MAY BE BOOST TO CITY DEFENSE PROJECT

With freezing of all building by the government within the past 48 hours eliminating the prospect of any further construction in Upland, the city building department reports that building permits for the month already make October the third highest month for the year, with a total of $4,780.

Questioned this morning as to what effect the new government building restriction might have on prospects for Upland Housing Authority, Mrs. Douglas Black, recording secretary, said that she had no word along that line. However, the order indicates that governmental building projects may be speeded.

Building for October, 1941, was $6,967.41, only a little above this month. However, building to date for 1942 is $39,1114, as compared with $156,115.41 a year ago.

Lieutenant Colonel Theodore C. Combs arrived in Upland this afternoon for a brief visit with his family and many local friends. He is assigned to Camp Claiborne, Louisana, an engineer unit training center.

Lieut. Col. Combs, a former Upland city employe, left here in 1934. He has been in the army two years, being commissioned as a captain and advancing rapidly to his present rank.

Mrs. Sarah Pratner of Mountain View, near San Jose, has spent this week with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Daniel, and Miss Mertie Smith at their home, 435 North Euclid avenue. She will leave tomorrow for her home, but she plans to return for a visit during the holidays.

JUNIOR RED CROSS STARTS ROLL CALL

The American Junior Red Cross annual "Enrollment for Service" will take place November 1-15 this year. This year's goal in the Upland region is to enroll all schools 100 per cent. The Junior Red Cross is observing its twenty-fifth anniversary year of service to the community and the nation.

Attention of the community is being called to the annual roll call by Mrs. Henry M. Busch, local Junior Red Cross chairman.

Under the Upland chapter in eleven schools, which include Alta Loma Etiwanda, Central Cucamonga, Camp Baldy, Mountain View, Louisa Guasti, Eighteenth Street, Sierra Vista, Upland Elementary, and Upland junior high school, over 1,500 pupils are a part of the more than 14,000,000 young people who make up this great organization today. Last year these local school children carried on many activities for the Junior Red Cross, which included $145.00 contributed for war relief, 30 Christmas gift boxes filled and sent to children in England, the knitting of many sweaters and sewing garments for refugees, and a great deal of work for the soldiers in the hospitals and camps nearby. This service included the making of such items as bed room slippers, flower containers, puzzles, joke books, ash trays, and holiday tray favors, of which 700 were supplied.

This year these local Junior Red Cross members have already pledged themselves to accomplish even more in the way of service to the armed forces, and have already begun the work with great enthusiasm. The "enrollment for service" therefore will be carried on in record time.

Paratroops 'Land', Bombs 'Rip' Upland But It Is Only Control Center Practice

Enemy paratroops "landed" for attack in Foothill brushlands north of Red Hill last night, while block-buster bombs "blasted" Mac's drug store, Upland Inn, Atwoods' and the Odd Fellows building off the map, disrupting all communications and utilities in the vicinity—well, at least theoretically, "invasion" struck as Upland control center staged an all-out, hair-raising test that kept control on its toes for a good evening's workout, it was declared this morning by R. G. Manley, Civilian Defense Coordinator.

PEACEFUL ENOUGH TODAY

As Upland business people and workers returned to their tasks and the usual peaceful scene along Ninth street and Second avenue this morning from the previous quiet evening in their dimmed out homes, little did they realize the "fury" of the "attack" which well upon the city at 7:30 last night, and culminated with the "hit" at 8:05 p.m. which "flattened everything within 300 yards of Mac's corner". Small wonder, however, that all this happened without Uplanders being aware of it, for it took place only in "incident reports", or practice. Such tests are staged frequently in the evenings and even during the daytime by Upland control center for the purpose of keeping air raid wardens and civilian defense workers on their toes so as to be prepared and schooled in what to do on a moment's notice in case the real thing should occur and plunge the city into an all-out emergency.

ALL-OUT WORKOUT

Last night's simulated attack provided control center with a good tough workout, as incidents came tumbling in by phone and messengers from all parts of the city, it was said by Chief Air Raid Warden Richard W. Derby.

Assuming proportions of a full-scale invasion, bombs blasted the city from end to end, while incendiaries set many fires, which had Fire Chief J. W. Voth with all his men and equipment taxed to their full ability. All ambulances also were out conveying wounded to first aid stations as demolition and rescue squads strove to remove scores of persons pinned in debris.

Wholly unexpected and surprise incidents of the evening staged by Mr. Derby were the landing of the paratroops and the havoc and disruption caused by the block-buster bomb at the northwest corner of Second avenue and Ninth street.

Theoretically, when the report of the paratroops reached control, police and police auxiliaries had to be dispatched to the scene to offer as much resistance as possible while control relayed a report of the paratroop landing to the sheriff's office, which in turn summoned the army. This report really electrified control center activity.

KNOCKOUT BLOW

Also in theory, the 2,000-pound block-buster bomb killed all wardens in that district, Number 5, so that the report had to be relayed by messenger from District 7, adjacent. This incident put control to its supreme test. With all communications out, messengers had to be called into service. It also necessitated the calling of almost every branch of civilian defense into action—repair squads to restore water, gas, sewer and telephone connections; first aid, ambulance, and demolition workers to rescue the wounded; police to restore and maintain order, and fire squads to check flames. Control was about breathless by this time, as Uplanders last evening went quietly about their pursuits, little aware of the valiant work being done to protect and save them

NEIGHBORS PARTICIPATE

E. Tweed Stone, civilian defense trainer, was one of the busiest men of the evening, his job being that of hedge-hopping from location to location throughout Upland, Cucamonga and Alta Loma, setting up and supervising incidents which were relayed to control center in Upland. Also participating in the test at the center were civilian defense heads of Alta Loma and Cucamonga, who were present as observers to

Survivor of Wasp Sinking Is Home In Upland For 30-day Shore Leave

John R. French is not going to forget his twenty-fourth birthday on September 15, 1942, for a long time—and he affirms that it was "some party"—for on that day he and over 1,000 shipmates had the aircraft carrier Wasp torpedoed from under them in the southwest Pacific in the course of sea activity in connection with the Battle of the Solomons.

But among the fortunate 90 per cent to escape the doomed carrier, young French arrived in Upland on Thursday to spend a 30-day leave with his mother and step father, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Wrenn, 265½ Tenth avenue. Yesterday morning, as he sat in the living room of the Wrenn home and told of his experience, his appearance gave no hint of his harrowing ordeal, save for his short hair, as his head was singed clean in the torpedo blast and ensuing fire aboard ship.

TOSSED IN AIR

An aircraft director engaged in handling planes in and out of the carrier, French was on the hangar deck and within about 50 feet of one of the torpedoes when it hit. The ensuing explosion was accompanied by a "flash like a streak of lightning", the young man declared, and it was in this flash that he lost his hair.

Concussion of the explosion threw him 15 feet into the air and through a manhole up onto another deck, where he landed on all fours and, miraculously, not seriously hurt. Four men within a few feet of him were killed by the explosion, he said.

PRAISES SHIPMATES

Picking himself up, French made his way aft, where he assisted with fire fighting, and a little later a ship's bomb exploded on deck and threw him again, but without injury. He spoke with great praise for the carrier's medical staff, who worked valiantly to delieve suffering in the midst of the inferno, and of the heroic efforts of officers and men to fight the fire aboard ship, which spread rapidly in the face of broken water lines.

SWAM TO DESTROYER

Among the last to abandon ship, French finally went over the side and down lines when ordered off by his superior officer, and he and a companion then swam three miles to a destroyer, which picked them up. He declared that it would surprise anyone to see how smoothly the ship abandoning was carried out at a time and under conditions when confusion would be expected to prevail. He said that there was not a hitch in the operation.

In his fifth year of service in the navy, French is rated as a boatswain mate second class and proudly exhibits ribbons signifying citations for four years of service, for being in the navy before the war began and for being a veteran of foreign wars. The latter ribbon insignia he received as a result of the Wasp engagement, and was engaged in attaching it to his other ribbon insignia yesterday morning.

HAS CITATIONS

He also is in line for citations from the British navy in recognition of the Wasp's participation in the recently heralded convoys to Malta in the Mediterranean and for service in the North Sea and the Atlantic.

Although admitting it is mighty good to be home for a rest, he said he is ready to go back to duty when called.

CHEST DRIVE AT $1,736 IS WELL ON WAY TO GOAL

There now remains but $764 to raise to reach the Chest goal of $2,500 for this year's drive, and it is expected with confidence that this should be reached within the next few days.

Bottle and Ribbons Used in Christening Of Ship Displayed

When a ship is christened, various equipment is used, such as ribbons for decorations and a bottle for breaking.

Some of these items that were on the destroyer the Admiral Brownson when it was christened recently in New York by Mrs. Cleland F. Baxter are on display today in the window of the J. J. Atwood Co. The Upland woman is keeping these momentos as a remembrance of the historic christening ceremonies. They were placed by Glenn Atwood in the store window this morning because of the wide local interest.

VICTORY FOR NO. 1 VITAL, LIONS TOLD

BY ERNEST CAMFIELD

Even during war, public opinion is a powerful weapon in getting needed action, and service clubs can demand that the proper authorities take steps in doing something about the shortage of labor in agriculture.

So declared S. L. Virene, leader in the San Bernardino County Farm Bureau, at the Lions club weekly luncheon Thursday. Pointing out the fact that the American farmer is doing a wonderful job in feeding the Allied armies, Mr. Virene nevertheless warned that men cannot continue to leave the farms for higher paying industrial jobs.

The farmer is faced with a titanic task of sending to every American soldier on foreign soil twice as much food as he will eat. This is because of the huge shipping losses. Added to this are the great quantities of food which must go to the lease-lend allies. The speaker stressed the fact that the stored supplies of food will be a potent force in writing the peace.

One of Mr. Virene's principal points of discussion was amendment No. 1 on the ballot Tuesday. He said a "Yes" vote would prohibit secondary boycott and "hot cargo" practices for the duration.

"Straight ahead is a goal," he continued. "We must not let anything deter us from reaching that goal—winning the war. There are 'side roads' leading on to the main passage ahead, but we must not allow the main route to get jammed up."

Defeat of No. 1 was described as likely to cause one of the principal obstacles in a smooth route leading to the main goal.

Mr. Virene was introduced by a guest at the club, Frank C. Buffington, who is also one of the leaders in the Farm Bureau.

SNOW ON BALDY COOLS VALLEY

First snow looked down from Baldy summit over the also-white shoulder of Ontario peak Tuesday morning, following Monday's rain in the valley, which left snow well down Cucamonga peak and the lower range east of Etiwanda.

Rain which began about midmorning Monday and continued with intermittent intensity through the day, brought .82 inch of rainfall, raising rainfall for the season to 3.45 inches to date, as compared with 2.05 inches for the same period a year ago.

Snow Crest reported 3½ inches of snow and temperatures down around 30 degrees, but the snowfall melted off the lower slopes in a hurry yesterday and today, with returning warm sunshine. But by late Monday afternoon valley residents knew that the rain had brought snow to the heights, though they could not see it until Tuesday's clear morning silhouetted white peaks against the blue sky. About eight inches of snow fell near Baldy summit.

TOWN MEETING ON BALLOT ISSUES IS SET FOR TONIGHT

Town meeting, to which all voters are invited, will convene tonight in Upland city hall council chamber at 7:30 o'clock, sponsored by Richard A. Ibanez, city councilman, for the purpose of developing discussion to bring about a better understanding of amendments on the November 3 ballot.

Keen interest in the town meeting and its purpose is said to be attracting attendance from neighboring communities.

EXPECT CANDIDATE

Candidates for state assemblyman in the 72nd district, Eugene G. Nisbet and R. Fred Price, have been invited to attend and will be given opportunity to present their respective aims and to answer voters' questions

Outstanding feature of the meeting will be questions and answers on the ballot propositions, with a panel of experts especially invited to answer questions and to express their views, giving voters the benefit of informed opinion.

VERBAL FREE-FOR-ALL

Primary an old-fashioned get-together modeled after the town meetings of Colonial days, the meeting is intended to draw out discussion and views of the "man in the street," by which all may become intelligently informed, Mr. Ibanez points out.

More than ever, the "town meeting" form of assembly is needed today, and may well become of paramount importance during the present times as a means for bringing townspeople and neighbors together and affording an opportunity for them to become better acquainted, Mr. Ibanez declares.

It is desirable that people bring with them their pamphlets containing the ballot amendment, he said, and recommended that these be read beforehand, as an aid to following the evenings discussions.

Next Tuesday Election Day In California

Proposition No. 19 Would Re-establish Former Plan of Electing Supervisors

The practice of electing members of the county board of supervisors by districts rather than by the county at large has proven to be sound and fair to all persons concerned.

This practice should be continued. To continue this practice, it is necessary for Proposition No. 19 on the ballot to be given a majority vote next Tuesday. Up until the August election of this year, it was customary for the supervisors to be elected by districts. Supervisors were elected by the county at large in August because of an interpretation of the California election law.

No. 19 on the ballot is a proposal to amend the law, and a "yes" vote will re-establish the former practice of people within a district electing their own supervisor. A "No" vote will continue the method followed in August, that of all voters in the county balloting on candidates in each supervisorial district.

During a discussion in the court house prior to the August election relative to the reasons for the change in the procedure for this year, the supervisors themselves took the first step in placing proposition No. 19 on the ballot. There should be no element of politics involved in the issue.

The question is simply this: "Do we here in this supervisorial district want to choose our own supervisor, or shall the matter be left up to voters throughout the county?"

For a Soldier's Christmas

Hundreds of thousands of American boys who have never before this year been outside the United States—scores of thousands who have never before spent a Christmas away from home, will spend Christmas Day beyond broad oceans. The day will dawn upon them in Ireland, England, Egypt, India, New Zealand, and a dozen other far places.

Unless Christmas packages, letters and cards addressed to all such soldiers are mailed before November 1, there is little likelihood that they will be delivered by December 25.

If a soldier overseas has no reminder that anyone at home thought of him, it will be the fault of someone who just couldn't get around to mailing something in time.

Don't let a soldier of your acquaintance down on Christmas Day! The nature of the gift isn't important. The important thing to him will be a message of Merry Christmas from home. The important thing to that end is to mail your package or message before November 1—and that date is just around Father Time's nearest corner.

REVIEW OF BOOKS IN LOCAL LIBRARY

BY MEMBER LIBRARY STAFF

Modern Dressmaking Made Easy (Mary Brooks Picken).

"There is a certain cockiness in American fashions right now that I am not quite able to understand, unless it is because our nation is just a bit in the spirit of 'sitting on top of the world'. The tilt of the hat, the pride of the shoulders, the slimness of the waist, the shortness of the skirts, the daring no-stocking era—all have a sureness about them that is typically American," said Mary Brooks Picken, in a talk before the New York Library association conference recently.

Mary Brooks Picken wrote "Modern Dressmaking Made Easy". The book may be found n the Upland public library.

In this particular book, the author not only tells you that the "plan of the book is to help make one look up, sit up, stand up, speak up, and dress up, but she also tells how to make the clothes that will give one "that feeling".

And pockets? Did you ever try to make a pocket? It's just as easy as easy can be. Look at the illustrations and follow directions and you will have no trouble at all, at all! Hems, gathers, plaits, tucks, godets, corners and curves, edge finishes, decorative stiches—you will find everything in this book.

It looks like a good Chrstmas number for the girl who is just beginning to make her own clothes and it will be a big help for mother.

Sabotage? No; Only Lad Attempting to Smoke Out Squirrel

It is said that "there is more than one way to kill a cat", so it should be equally true that there is more than one way to catch a squirrel—especially if one gets the proper down-draft, it was decided by Charles Herwig, 17, San Bernardino Y. M. C. A., picked up by Auxiliary Policeman Jay Southworth.

Apprehended by the officer when apparently in the act of setting fire to some papers in the brush along Foothill boulevard, east of Campus avenue, the youth was brought to the police station for questioning, as local police exercise every precaution these days, in view of possible acts of sabotage.

However, the only fact smoked out by questioning the youth was that he had seen a ground squirrel dive into a hole under a bush along the road and he had set about to smoke the rodent out of its lair. So police released the lad to go his way, but with a warning to not commit acts which might endanger property.

Newspapers Finding Soldier Boys Eager For Home News

Miss Edna Tilden, R. N., now serving with the navy in Samoa, in a letter received this week by her mother, Mrs. Clara Tilden, 250 North Campus avenue, stated she had just received three copies of The Upland News and she felt almost like she had been home on a visit.

The Upland News is being sent to many service men in the army, navy and air corps, and is being received in camps from Alaska to the South Seas, from Australia to India, England and Iceland.

In expressing his appreciation for this service, given free, and given gladly, by The Upland News, one soldier said he reads every line in the paper, even the classified advertisements. Another "home boy" stated he had just received a copy of the paper and had read it through three times and was going back to look it over again to see if he had missed a line.

Confirming the statements of these and many other soldiers, is a paragraph reprinted in The Publishers' Auxiliary from the Des Moines (Iowa) Register, quoting Major George Shoemaker upon his return from England.

The quotation is:

"Newspapers from home are read until they are worn out. We have circular routes on which the papers travel. Anyone receiving a newspaper from home reads it first, then starts it along the route. And it's literally worn out when it completes the circle.

"Not only do soldiers read the dailies, but we find ourselves reading the little papers from towns we don't know anything about. We first read whatever political news they may have in them. Then we read the personal items. Oftentimes we find ourselves reading with interest every column of personal items—about people we have never heard of."

WOMEN OF UPLAND CALLED UPON FOR INCREASED EFFORT

A call for increased production of garments for service men has been made to the American Red Cross by United States army and navy officials, Mrs. Mary Eckerman, chairman of Upland Red Cross chapter, has been notified by the Pacific Coast Area headquarters in San Francisco.

Finished material is not coming in as fast as is needed, the army and navy men say, and they urge that more workers be enlisted and greater speed be made. Especially are more knitted garments wanted.

LOCAL CALL MADE

Mrs. Harry W. Flowers, production chairman for the Upland chapter, stated today that local production is slowing down and she earnestly urges every woman who can spare even part of the day to help with the work.

Knitting can be done anywhere, at public meetings, at parties, in the home, or at the Red Cross headquarters. Many women already are working on such a schedule and various organizations include Red Cross work on their programs, but the number of workers is falling off, Mrs. Flowers reports.

Many, of course, are engaged in other war work that is important; but Mrs. Flowers points out that clothing such as the Red Cross provides for the service men, is very essential and she urges greater effort and greater sacrifice in time on the part of every women who possibly can assist.

MANY GARMENTS CUT

Mrs. Flowers says the women who are cutting out garments are working faithfully and have at least 200 garments cut and ready for sewing. The material may be carried home or may be made up at the headquarters, 304 North Euclid avenue.

Just now many dozens of toe slippers for use by men in the hospitals are being called for and there is yarn ready for knitting the badly needed sweaters, socks, etc.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor of Upland News:

I wonder if the voters of your district would care to have the benefit of my experience as Supervisor of the Third District from 1932 to 1936, elected county-wide, in making up their minds on how to vote on the proposed County Charter Amendment, Proposition 19, on the November ballot.

If this proposal fails, each candidate for supervisor will be voted on by all of the voters in the county, as was the case this year. If it carries, each district will elect its own supervisor.

In cases where the whole county votes, San Bernardino has the balance of power because it has so many voters. That city is in the driver's seat and can determine who will represent your district. This is not right as the people of each district should be represented at the courthouse by a man of their own choosing. That is representative government.

Many people do not stop to realize that to cover the entire county a candidate must spend from $2,000.00 to $3,000.00 on his campaign. Since the job of supervisor pays only $4,800.00 for the four year term, it is not right that he should be put to such an expense.

In view of these facts I believe the people of the county will vote "Yes" on Number 19.

Yours very truly,
J. HARRY PORCH,
Redlands, Calif.

Upland Woman's Club And Guests Told Of Air Power

"Air power is the biggest word in warfare at the present time," said Geoffrey F. Morgan, manager of the speakers bureau for the Douglas Aircraft Co., in his address before the Upland Woman's club during the regular meeting Tuesday afternoon, and the biggest word in air power is air transport. "The battle of production is being won; our biggest task now is to win the battle of transportation. A year ago our chief concern was to carry the war to the enemy; today we are even more concerned in carrying the army to the war.

"Not only men, but arms, ammunition, food and clothing, tanks and trucks, and guns must all be shipped for enormous distances over land and sea," Mr. Morgan pointed out. "It is obvious that air transport is not only the quickest but also the safest means of carrying them, since there is no recorded case of any airplane having been destroyed by a torpedo from a submarine!"

"The time is not far off," he said, "when vast quantities of this material will be carried through the air 10 times as fast as any transport on the ground, and 15 times as fast as any freight steamer on the water."

Mr. Morgan's address followed the brief business session conducted by the club president, Mrs. L. E. Moser, when she opened the meeting at 2 o'clock. The speaker was presented by Mrs. J. Emery Sargent, program chairman.

In telling of the vast and increasing production of airplanes, he spoke of the great number of women who are helping to make that production possible.

Mr. Morgan envisioned the bombing of Berlin and Tokyo by 10,000 allied planes. Complete destruction of such cities, of factories, railroads and highways would result, he said, and continued:

"There are only about fifty major industrial cities in the whole of Germany, and when the cities are destroyed, the country will be destroyed, because no people and no country can hope to survive the ruthless and inexorable bombing to which they will surely be subjected."

Mr. Morgan devoted part of his time to telling of the progress being made in building all types of planes with the most advanced improvements and of the training of the finest pilots in the world.

A large number of club members were in attendance and many visitors accepted the club's invitation to hear Mr. Morgan.

During the business session it was decided the club members will work each Friday at the Red Cross camp and hospital service committee's headquarters in the former Mehl hardware building and that they will be in charge of the Ontario-Upland USO headquarters on Friday, Nov. 13. The club women plan to devote one day each month to the USO work.

San Antonio Chapter Program Given As Meeting Held

Featured by a diversified program of more than ordinary interest, October meeting of San Antonio chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry I. deBerard, 325 West F street, Ontario.

Mrs. Charles A. Mayo, regent, presided, and the chaplain, Mrs. E. G. Blackert, conducted the devotional service and told the story of the writing of the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee".

During the business session it was agreed that the chapter should give one day each month, the fourth Saturday, to the USO.

In line with the chapter's policy of observing all patriotic holidays, Mrs. Walter S. Gist told of Columbus day and how the observance started; Mrs. Guy F. Underwood gave the history of Navy day and the origin of its observance, and Mrs. Frank Ordway called attention to the anniversary of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis.

Mrs. Marie Jesson told of the two scrapbooks the chapter is to keep, one for the Gold Star mothers and the other for the service men belonging to D. A. R. families. She asked for clippings any of the members may find.

Mrs. W. B. Harvey, serving as program chairman, presented Mrs. Frank L. Allen, who gave an especially interesting talk on the history of early American furniture.

Mrs. DeBerard's guests had the privilege of seeing her beautiful old furniture and furnishings inherited from her grandfather. She told how the exquisitely hand-carved furniture was made by a Swiss carver and cabinet maker in the family home in Dubuque, Iowa, while her grandfather, then a small boy, looked on in wide-eyed wonder.

A delightful tea hour concluded the meeting. The hostesses were Mrs. L. R. Nichols, Miss Alice Allen, Mrs. Mary Janney, Mrs. W. W. Stevens, and Mrs. Georgina Wilson.

Others present were the Mesdames Chas. A. Mayo, Walter S. Gist, Marie Jesson, Geo. P. Weldon, Guy F. Underwood, J. I. Countryman, Frederick W. Wikoff, E. G. Blackert, F. H. Wallihan, Alexander R. Miss Eyster One of Staff Accompanying Interned Japanese

Miss Edith Eyster, R.N., daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Eyster, 637 North Third avenue, has just had the unique experience of accompanying a trainload of interned Japanese half way across the country.

Miss Eyster, who is employed in the public health service department of Los Angeles county, was selected as one of the medical and nursing staff to accompany a large number of Japanese from Santa Anita to a new internment settlement in Arkansas.

Miss Eyster, who came out to visit this week with her parents and to rest after the somewhat strenuous trip, says it was interesting to note the reactions of members of both races when the Arkansas Negroes and the Japanese first saw one another.

After being relieved of their charges, Miss Eyster and others in the group went on to Hot Springs and attended a four days convention of public health workers, both physicians and nurses.

WILLING WORKERS ASSIST RED CROSS

With Red Cross Camp and Hospital committee quarters at 229 Second avenue humming with the activity of repairing and refinishing furniture, the committee expects to begin furnishing three camp day rooms next week, it is said by Mrs. John B. Craig, committee chairman.

Remarkable progress, she said, is being made with repairing, sanding and painting furniture, re-covering chairs and couches, re-tieing springs, and a thousand and one other attentions necessary to put furniture and equipment back into serviceable shape for the comfort and convenience of service men in the army camps.

Workers come and go, putting in such time as they can spare to carry on the work. Many latent talents and skills are being discovered and developed, while enthusiasm runs high as pieces of furniture like new evolve from decrepid or hopeless appearing spectres of one-time respectable furnishings.

PARATROOPS 'LAND'; BOMBS 'RIP' UPLAND

learn to coordinate their groups, which work through Upland control. Captain Frank J. Freeman of the highway control, also was an interested observer.

Other incidents of the evening included the crash of a Jap bomber at San Antonio avenue and Twentieth street, with its load intact as it did not burn, and the pilot, severely wounded, was captured, while bombs east of Upland ripped out the Santa Fe right-of-way. Also the Mountain View packinghouse was burned, and a reservoir blasted, releasing flood waters which demolished a home.

So far, incident tests have been principally for the control center to season and sharpen its personnel for any emergency. However, civilian defense workers in the field before very long will be included in the practices and will receive ample workout, Mr. Derby promises.

So Uplanders tonight may be surprised to know that all day long they have been passing to and fro in a theoretically bomb-blasted city, in which last night they were theoretical refugees and dead men. What a relief to pinch themselves and feel it!

War-Time Service Commission To Be Explained Sunday

On the next two Sundays, Nov. 1 and 8, the congregation of the Upland Presbyterian church will give special attention to the "call for united action" issued by the Presbyterian war-time service commission.

The commission, created by the Presbyterian General Assembly to carry on the war-time work of the church, is asking for a minimum of $1,000,000 for the fiscal year commencing last June.

Render spiritual service to our men in the armed forces in this country, on the high seas, or serving on distant and far-flung fronts;

Provide for the spiritual welfare of men, women and children in congested war industry communities in the United States; and

Help keep the spirit of Christianity alive in all corners of the globe by aid to the helpless, the suffering and the oppressed.

The commission's work will be explained during the service at the church on each Sunday and opportunity will be given for those who desire to do so to contribute to the fund.

Yes—even the little clothes hanger has come under the effect of the present emergency. Paper clothes hangers will be on the market in a few weeks, but until that time we will be unable to purchase any more hangers.

It is possible that you may have some hangers that you are not using. If this is the case, we would appreciate the return of any hangers that you might be able to spare.

TRUCK OWNERS URGED TO ACT IN RECORDING DATA

Truck owners and pickup owners, as well as owners of "cut down" passenger cars are warned that certificates of war necessity must be on those vehicles, unless used principally for family passenger service only, by November 15. If an application has not been received by mail, the County Agricultural War Board issues the following advice.

"Farmers and haulers of farm produce or farm supplies should immediately contact the county agricultural war board office or a member of the farm transportation committee, whose names and addresses are given below for your assistance.

San Bernardino County Agricultural War Board Office, room 200, Professional building, San Bernardino.

A. J. Leavitt, southwest corner Grove and Walnut, Ontario.

Francis Williams, 555 E. California boulevard, Ontario.

"Haulers of non-farm commodities should immediately write the Office of Defense Transportation, 1031 South Broadway, Los Angeles.

"These certificates are the same as a national license to operate vehicles of this type and must be shown in order to obtain fuel."

Geoffery Morgan Affirms Speakers Have Voice Lapse

At an informal dinner of Upland Civilian Defense heads with Geoffery Morgan on Tuesday evening, discussion drifted around to throat irritations commonly experienced by public speakers.

It seems that a high governmental dignitary visiting the front lines in France during World War I desired to make a tour of the front line trenches, so an officer was detailed to the duty.

Following zig-zag communication trenches, they finally reached a combat trench and the officer announced in a subdued whisper, "Sir, this is the third line trench". Advancing again through more zig-zag trenches, another line was reached and the visitor was informed in a very subdued whisper, "This is the second line trench".

Then they set out toward the front through more wandering communication trenches, and, finally in a very formidable line of trenches the officer announced in an exceedingly subdued whisper, "This is the front line trench". To this the dignitary queried, "And how far away are the enemy front line trenches?"

"Seven miles," replied the officer in a vanishing whisper. Whereupon the dignitary, in an exasperated rising whisper, exclaimed, "Well, in that case, why in the Sam Hill do we have to whisper about it?" Feebly, and with all of his vanishing voice, the officer replied, desperately, "You don't have to, sir; but I can't talk any louder. I've got such a whale of a cold"

Menuhin, Dickson, Jepson Iturbi Crown Civic Series

Four concerts without equal have been arranged for the Civic Consert series this year by the civic committee which has worked throughout the summer on the events. Tickets are available at popular prices in order to bring to everyone in the West End the finest in American music for everyone.

As one of the major civic projects of the year, organizations and citizens of the West End are sponsoring this group, which represents internationally known artists for each event. The Ontario Woman's club, the Ontario Methodist Women's union, the Upland P.-T. A., Chaffey MacDowell club, and the men's service clubs of the district are making special efforts to promote the success of the season.

First musical event of the season is the appearance on November 12 of the internationally famous violinist, Yehudi Menuhin. This great master of the violin has been on the concert stage since the age of ten, and is making his fifteenth national tour this season.

Chaffey Symphony choir will appear with Donald Dickson, the dramatic singer, the night of January 19. Dickson is known on concert and radio as one of the most popular young baritones.

Jose Iturbi, most loved and admired pianist, is the third musician on the series, on February 8. World-traveled and internationally trained, Iturbi has traveled far from his native Spain. He is famous as conductor and pianist, who last season conducted 55 symphony concerts in 68 days.

Helen Jepson, glamorous Metropolitan soprano, is the artist who will close the series on Mar. 11. She made her Metropolitan debut in 1936, and since has sung the roles of some twelve of the loveliest heroines of opera.

FRED PRICE TELLS VIEWS ON PENSION

R. Fred Price, candidate for Assembly from the 72nd District, makes a plea to take the Old Age Pensions out of politics and give the senior citizens a fair and equitable allowance without a lot of political strings tied to it and jokers that continually embarrass the applicants. In issuing a statement, he said in part:

"When the aged people of California reach a time in their lives when they cannot continue to earn enough to afford them a comfortable living, I believe that it becomes the responsibility of their government to see that they are properly cared for. Many of these people have worked hard all of their lives and through no fault of their own in many cases have lost their savings, while others have made valuable contributions to their state and community, but have not been able to get ahead financially. They should not be made to feel that they are wards of the state, but should have the satisfaction and comfort of knowing that they are only receiving their just compensation.

"I do not believe that their children should be asked to accept the responsibility of caring for their parents, as in most cases they have families of their own to support and educate.

"There is no greater tragedy, in my opinion, than to disillusion and dishearten our aged citizens by making them pre-election promises and then completely ignore them after the election is over.

"I believe that in addition to receiving their pensions, they should be permitted to earn a reasonable amount per month in addition, without interference. I do not believe we should say to these aged people that because they are receiving pensions they must go completely out of circulation as far as earning is concerned. This is particularly significant now on account of the increased cost of living and shortage of man power."

Evangelist Is To Continue Services At Upland Church

Each evening at 7:30 interested audiences gather at the Brethren in Christ church to hear the inspiring messages of Evangelist Charlie Byers of Chambersburg, Penn. The pastor of the church says:

"The Reverend Mr. Byers is a specialist in outlining the requirements of God for man living in a world just like the world in which we live. Folks learn why living is unsatisfactory and what to do about it. It is encouragingly hopeful to know that we may 'live soberly, righteously, godly, lovingly and happily' in this present world, which seems to have gone mad with hate, selfishness, and evil designs."

These services continue until Tuesday evening, Nov. 10. A Love feast and communion service will be held Saturday afternoon and evening, Nov. 7.

Upland Likely Scene of Paratroop Attack, Morgan Tells C-D Audience

Enemy paratroop invasion of Upland? Open country along the foothills on which to land and adjacent citrus groves affording ideal concealment for organization make the landing of an enemy paratroop force a possibility not to be scoffed at, it was declared by Geoffery Morgan, who addressed some 300 Upland civilian defense workers Tuesday evening in a fitting climax to four West End speaking engagements that day.

Mr. Morgan likened successful military action and invasion to the reply made by "Home Run Baker" when asked how he was able to make so many home runs. "Hit 'em where they aint," was Baker's rejoiner. Just so, an enemy invasion force looks for unprotected places to strike, Mr. Morgan pointed out.

COMMENDS UPLAND PREPAREDNESS

Amplifying the possibility of enemy attack upon the west coast, Mr. Morgan warned of three ways in which such an attack might be made. A landing might be made and a base set up in some isolated section of Mexico in Baja California; that the Japanese might follow the Alaskan route (which they tried to do, and in which they might have been successful had they taken Dutch Harbor in their initial attempt); or they might attack with planes based from carriers.

What they actually do, he declared, is anybody's guess, and that is why the west coast must be ready for whatever may come. In this connection, he commended the Upland civilian defense organization for having the right idea and being off on the right foot. "You are not going to be caught unprepared here. Evidence of your organization which I have seen, and interest shown by your attendance at this meeting prove that you are alert," he said.

WARNED TO BE ON GUARD

But vigorous warning was sounded by Mr. Morgan that one of the principal dangers against which to guard are the complacency, the false security, and the disarming attitude "it can't happen here", which were so fatally pursued by Admiral Kimmel and General Short to the disastrous results at Pearl Harbor and Honolulu. In view of their inability to believe that there was any real danger, although they were fully advised of critical diplomatic relations and a possible rupture, the west coast must not likewise be lulled into a sense of self security, he declared.

Enemy people, Mr. Morgan said, are striving just as valiantly and ably as are Americans, and that, therefore, their strength and ability must not be underestimated for a moment.

AIR POWER STRESSED

The importance of air power in the war program, the demonstration of its decisive force against naval units in the battle of Crete and in the Java sea, together with a graphic explanation of paratroop organization and action were told with vivid fascination by Mr. Morgan. Well known to West End audiences over many years, Mr. Morgan, head of the speakers' bureau of Douglas Aircraft company, addressed Chaffey students Tuesday morning and appeared before Ontario Lions club at noon and Upland Woman's club in the afternoon.

City Manager R. G. Manley opened the civilian defense meeting, acting in the absence of Mayor Eugene G. Nisbet, and turned the program over to E. Tweed Stone, civilian defense trainer. In a word of welcome to the audience, Mr. Stone said that for once they were to just look and listen and to be informed and entertained instead of being given instructions and some task to perform.

Mr. Stone also introduced William Yount, State Civilian Defense official, who conducted incendiary and fire demonstration program in Upland during the summer. Accompany Mr. Yount were Carl Rundberg, assistant chief of police of Redlands, and Dale Pence of the San Bernardino state motor patrol office.

Concluding the evening's program were two films. "Thunder in the East" gave civilian defense workers a view of real war as it hits civilians, and showed the opening phases of Japan's war against China ten years ago. "Eyes of the Navy", depicting the rigorous and thorough training of United States naval flyers, replaced "Atlantic Patrol", originally scheduled to have been shown.

AMERICANS . . . boys from California . . . are today offering up their lives to protect our right to the ballot.

Governor Olson and the other Democratic state officials of California have long supported the interests of the plain people whose strength is the strength of America.

Despite the obstructionists . . . the appeasers . . . those who applauded the pact of Munich, these faithful officials have carried on a fight for the plain people of California which has paralleled that of President Roosevelt for the people of the nation.

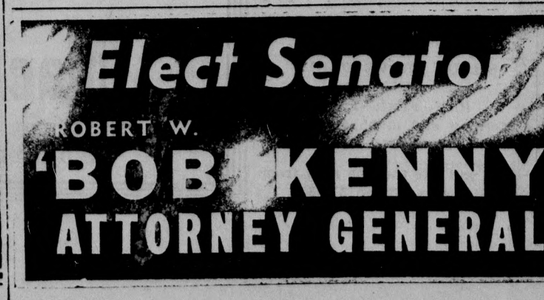

The RECORD reveals that they have been fought at every turn by the Hoovers and Hearsts and Chandlers . . . yes, and the Warrens of California.

California is in the WAR ZONE!

Leadership is the vital need today ---NOT POLITICS

"OLSONISM" MUST END!

VOTE FOR EARL WARREN, GOVERNOR; FRED HOUSER, LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR; WALLACE WARE, ATTORNEY GENERAL

The time has come for Californians to back up the boys on the fighting front with unity on the home front!

This unity is impossible with the present political set-up at Sacramento. It is impossible with a Governor who cannot command the respect or co-operation of his own party and who quarrels even with the men who put him into office.

Unity at home cannot be achieved by a Governor who has refused to call the State Legislature into session . . . even though California is in the theatre of actual war and in spite of constant urging by citizens and cities throughout California. President Roosevelt, on the other hand, has insisted that the National Congress remain in continuous session — a measure vital to the survival of democracy and freedom.

Governor Olson has insisted that the State Legislature remain OUT of session . . . which means that the law-makers we elected to guide the destinies of our State are powerless to act during the most perilous time in California history.

This is "Olsonism". It is dictatorship rather than leadership. California cannot stand another four years of such a political circus. The "Spoils System" must go, particularly during this hazardous time when we must present a united front to our Axis enemies.

EARL WARREN will clean up the political mess in the State's humanitarian institutions and agencies. He will DO SOMETHING CONSTRUCTIVE about pensions for senior citizens . . . . He believes in pensions as a matter of right, not charity. He will bring new confidence in State Government, to California Labor, Agriculture and Industry.

Now, during the war, California desperately needs a leader with courage, ability and character. We will need the same type of efficient, non-partisan leadership even more after the war is won.
